

OSU Academy for Lifelong Learning

If you believe that learning never ends, then you are invited to join ALL.

THE ACADEMY FOR LIFELONG LEARNING

ALL is a self-funded, peer-led, membership organization, which embraces learning as a lifelong process. Members are both students and volunteer instructors, who bring to the group a wealth of ideas, knowledge, and diverse interest areas to share with peers. Much of ALL coursework is developed and led by fellow members. Classes boast active, participatory learning environments.

MEMBERSHIP

ALL is open to any mature adult. You do not have to be an OSU alumnus or retiree. No particular experience or educational background is required. All you need is a genuine interest in lifelong learning!

GOVERNANCE & AFFILIATIONS

ALL is self-governed and is administered by a volunteer Advisory Board. Current members are listed at the right. Within ALL, crucial committees are Curriculum, Membership and Publicity. ALL is self-supporting and is affiliated with the OSU Alumni Association. ALL coordinates activities with the Oregon State University Retirement Association (OSURA) Board and is recognized by the OSU Foundation and the OSU President's Office.

CLASSES BEGIN MARCH 30

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

WHERE WILL THE CLASSES BE HELD & WHAT ABOUT PARKING?

ALL has a new base of operations as of January 2004. We now meet in the Meeting Room of the First Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, located at 4515 SW West Hills Road. This is about a mile west of the OSU Foundation Building. (See the map at the right.) The church has plenty of parking and is delighted to have ALL use its facilities.

HOW DO I JOIN?

Membership in ALL is $100 per year. New members can attend as few or as many classes as they wish for a full year beginning the quarter in which they join. (Additional fees are charged for a few classes to cover books, travel, class materials, etc.). Use the included registration form to indicate your selections so instructors can plan for handouts. Some class sizes are limited.

Suggested registration deadline for Spring term is March 22nd. Registrations will be accepted after that date, but limited sized classes fill quickly. Join or register today!

HOW DO I CONTACT ALL?

Address: c/o OSU Alumni Association, 204 CH2M Hill Alumni Center, Corvallis, Oregon 97331-6303
Phone: (541) 737-9405 – for messages, we will try to get back to you within 24 hours.

ALL TOPICS, TO CONSIDER

1. The success of ALL is due to the excellent curriculum and the vigorous, creative, hard working members of the CURRICULUM COMMITTEE. They fully deserve your pats on their backs. When you see them please tell them how special they are and how much you appreciate their efforts. The are: Sheryl Bernard, Art Bervin, Dorothy Brown (Chair), Barb Callner, Jane Capizzi, Lois Courtney, Maxine Eckes, David Eiseman, Jerry Hull, Denis Jarvis, Priscilla Johnson, Stephanie Jorgensen, Larry Merriam, Sheila Schweizer, Norm Seward, Lloyd Swanson, and Dick Weinman.
2. THANK YOU FOR ALL YOUR PATIENCE AND SUPPORT as we navigated the move from the Foundation building to the First Congregational, United Church of Christ. We have heard many positive comments about our new location and our gracious hosts. It feels like home already.
3. WE HOPE THAT CLASS SCHEDULES NEVER CHANGE, but when they do, we send out an e-mail within 6 hours of learning of a class change. We phone registered class members who do not have e-mail. Therefore, to minimize your inconvenience, please check your e-mail daily and register for classes you plan to attend. If we don't know you are planning to come we can't phone you to tell you not to come.

4. WE ARE ALMOST 2 YEARS OLD and have passed the "200 Member" mark. We are contemplating our future. How big should we be? What should our offerings and classes be? Do we want to change or expand and how? We are sure many of you have ideas and comments. Please share them with any Board member. We are all listed on the front page of the brochure.

5. WE WANT TO CELEBRATE the end of our second successful year with a reception. When plans are completed, we'll let you know the details.

6. WE STILL NEED VOLUNTEERS FOR:

Phone Tree: Phone 3-4 members who do not have e-mail to tell them of changes

Publicity: Help others in our community find out about ALL

Nominations: Identify potential new Board members and Officers

Hospitality: Plan and facilitate our Year-end Reception

SPRING COURSES

Classes are held at the First Congregational Church, on West Hills Road unless otherwise noted.

1. History, Politics and Philosophy

Tuesday, March 30, 9:30–11:30 AM: Not In Their Own Voices – Local African American Pioneers

Judy Rycraft Juntunen, retired research librarian for the Benton County Historical Museum, says that Oregon has been described as a tough spot with a nice climate for African Americans to live. Their early history is seldom recorded in their own voice; instead it is told in the words of others through reminiscences of white neighbors and friends, census records, and other legal documents. Learn more about these early pioneers and the challenges they faced. (Previously offered last term but canceled due to inclement weather.)

Tuesday, April 6, 9:30–11:30 AM: Classical Economics

Bill Wilkins, OSU Professor Emeritus of Economics and Dean Emeritus of the College of Liberal Arts, will examine in (some of) their own words the arguments of the founders of Classical economics: Adam Smith, T.R. Malthus, and David Ricardo. Some of the implications for current society will be discussed.

Tuesdays, April 13, 20, 27, May 4, 9:30–11:30 AM: Isms

Dick Weinman, OSU Professor Emeritus of Media Communications, and Larry Roper, OSU Vice Provost of Student Affairs, will moderate a project-centered, participatory experience in understanding and creating a harmonious, multicultural, diverse community and society. Theory and principles will be explored through small group activities and class presentations. Topics include issues of ethnicity, race, gender, age, sexual orientation; behaviors of social boundary setting, profiling, prejudice, bigotry, hatred; and changing individual and societal attitudes and behaviors.

Class size is limited to 30. Members are expected to complete the work and attend all four classes.

Tuesday, May 11, 9:30–11:30 AM: FDR – Taking a Nation to War

Cliff Trow, OSU Professor Emeritus of History, will assess the role of Franklin D. Roosevelt as our leader in World War II.

Tuesday, May 18, 9:30–11:30 AM: Richard Nixon – His Legacy

Professor Trow returns to examine the consequences of this controversial presidency.

Tuesday, May 25, 9:30–11:30 AM: "So That's Why I Am Like I Am" – Taking the Myers-Briggs Questionnaire

Maxine Eckes, retired educator and administrator, will present the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, a questionnaire, to help individuals better understand themselves. After taking this questionnaire based on Carl Jung's theory of personality, participants will learn about their individual preferences for introversion or extroversion, intuition or sensing, and thinking or feeling.

Classes are held at the First Congregational Church, on West Hills Road unless otherwise noted.

Tuesday, June 1, 9:30–11:30 AM: New Media and the Political Process

Maynard Orme, CEO, Oregon Public Broadcasting, will give a historical development of media technology and communication as it affects the political process. A glimpse into the future of “new media”, and possible implications of what is to come.

2. Mexico

Tuesday, March 30, 1:30–3:30 PM: The World of the Mayas, Aztecs and Incas

Mary Lee Nolan, OSU Professor of Geography, and Sidney Nolan, PhD will show their video production on the Mayas, Aztecs and Incas. This video explores the development of these principal indigenous civilizations encountered by the Spanish conquistadors in the 16th century. The principal archaeological sites of the Maya in Yucatan, the Aztecs of central Mexico, and the Andean Inca are featured as backgrounds to discussion of the political and social organization of these groups.

Wednesday, March 31, 1:30–3:30 PM: The United States of Mexico

Shirley King, OSU Spanish Instructor, will present a discussion of the regional distinctions and cultural and political divisions of Mexico.

Tuesday, April 6, 1:30–3:30 PM: Myth and Reality of the Conquest of Mexico

David McMurry, OSU Associate Professor of Anthropology, will discuss the reality of early Spanish Explorers in Mexico. Cortez is popularly imagined to have embodied the traits of his illustrious New World predecessor, Columbus. Both of them are thought to be the epitome of European scientific superiority, commercial cunning, and Iberian initiative. The Aztecs, the dominant power in Central America, crumbled when they were exposed to the intensity of their European conquerors. That is the myth. The reality is far more complex – and far more interesting – involving factors including everything from domination to destiny, deities, dogs, and disease.

Tuesdays, April 13, 1:30–3:30 PM: After the Revolution – The New Nationalism

Robert Hatchett, University of Oregon Associate Professor of History, will explore how the revolutionary government of Mexico tried to create a new “revolutionary nationalism” during the 1920’s and 1930’s through the arts. The government sponsored artists, particularly well known mural artists like Diego Rivera, and others in film, literature, and even music. This multimedia presentation will include film clips and musical examples.

Tuesdays, April 20, 1:30–3:30 PM: Aztec and Mayan Foods of Mexico

David McMurry, OSU Professor of Anthropology, returns to discuss Aztec and Mayan foods. Our diet today would be unrecognizable if we removed the foods of our New World ancestors. Not everyone ate the same things, but they had creative and healthy diets. We owe them an enormous culinary debt. Our diets today would be greatly improved if we adhered strictly to a New World menu.

Wednesday, April 28, 2:30–4:30: Mexican Immigration in the Twentieth Century

José-Antonio Orosco, OSU Assistant Professor of Philosophy, will provide a short introduction to Mexican immigration. By concentrating on the influence of the Mexican Revolution, the Great Depression, and World War II, he will consider why there has been controversy over Mexican immigration in the US. His presentation will also involve an evaluation of the current immigration reform policies being considered by politicians.

Tuesday, May 4, 1:30–3:30 PM: Aztec Dancing and American Effects on Mexican Culture

OSU students, Claudia Garcia (psychology/anthropology) and Carlos Garcia, (business) will present a live Aztec dance performance in traditional dress, with explanation. The session will conclude with a discussion of how the youth view the effects of Americanization on Mexican culture, including traditions, life styles, products, etc.

Classes are held at the First Congregational Church, on West Hills Road unless otherwise noted.

Tuesday, May 4, 6:30 PM: Comida Mexicana

At press time the details were not complete for our special Mexican dinner at Stoneybrook Lodge, prepared and served under the personal direction of Ascencio Moreno, owner-chef of Tacos Uruapan. Indicate your interest on this registration form. We will provide a separate registration form with the menu and all the details in April.

Tuesday, May 11, 1:30–3:30 PM: Música Mexicana

Musician and composer Mike Curtis will present a tasty combination of folk, popular, and classical offerings from mariachi and corridos to Carlos Chavez. Formerly a member of the Mexico State Symphony, Mike Curtis tours Mexico annually. Mike's compositions include his frequently performed 1996 work, Souvenir of Guanajuato, on Mexico Themes. While teaching woodwinds at OSU, he is principal bassoon with the OSU and Eugene Symphonies.

Tuesday, May 18, 1:30–3:30 PM: NAFTA

Andreas Waldkirch, OSU Assistant Professor of Economics, will discuss the major issues surrounding the North America Free Trade Act (NAFTA), and free trade more generally, and will provide an economic perspective that addresses many of the concerns voiced by the skeptics of free trade.

Tuesday, May 25, 1:30–3:30 PM: Seeing Mexico through Gringo Eyes

Dianne Hart, OSU Emeritus Professor of Foreign Languages, will consider the politics, economy, social customs, immigration, and the ties that bring the US and Mexico together.

3. Issues and Ideas

Wednesday, March 31, 9:30–11:30 AM: Mushrooming Around Town

Dr. Nancy S. Weber, OSU Associate Professor (courtesy) of Forest Science, uses invited and uninvited mushrooms and other fungi in her garden to illustrate the roles of fungi in nature and in our lives. (Previously offered last term but canceled due to inclement weather.)

Wednesday, April 7, 9:30–11:30 AM: The Continuation of Long Term Care for the Elderly

John Hogan will discuss the different levels of care and concerns of all groups. He is an instructor in the OSU College of Business and Director of Professional Development Healthcare Administration, Public Health Department.

Wednesday, April 14, 9:30–11:30 AM: "No Child Left Behind" – Politics or Education?

Mrs. Dawn Tarzian, Director of Teaching and Learning in Corvallis School District, will review the No Child Left Behind Act and the current reality for local schools. There will be time for discussion and questions around the potential benefit or detriment to children and their education.

Wednesday, April 21, 9:30–11:30 AM: Enlightened Self Interest? – Geo-Politics of US Foreign Assistance

Marion McNamara, Co-Director of International Research and Development, OSU's Office of International Programs, will give an overview of foreign assistance from several of the G-8 countries, including private and public contributions. The discussion will explore the relationships between aid and trade, and the influence of strategic interests and/or ideology.

Wednesday, April 28, 9:30–11:30 AM: What You Need to Know about Alzheimer's Disease

Craig B. Lehman, MD will explore the impact of this major illness on patient, family and society.

Classes are held at the First Congregational Church, on West Hills Road unless otherwise noted.

Wednesday, May 5, 9:30–11:30 AM: Social Science Issues in the City of Corvallis

Jon Nelson, Corvallis City Manager, and Sharon Gibson, Executive Director of the United Way, will discuss social service issues in Corvallis, current needs and the agencies working on them.

Wednesday, May 12, 9:30–11:30 AM: Black (helicopters) and Blue (helmets) – Is the UN in Need of Reform?

In some quarters the United Nations is viewed as a shadowy, all-powerful world government, while others recognize the useful roles it plays and lament its weakness. Richard “Dick” Clinton, OSU Professor of Political Science, International Relations and Latin American Affairs, discusses what reforms are needed.

Wednesday, May 19, 9:30–11:30 AM: The Good, the Bad and the Ugly of the Medicare Modernization Act

Jane-ellen Weidanz, Oregon Legislative and Advocacy Coordinator from the Department of Human Services, Seniors and People with Disabilities Division, will give an overview of the new Medicare Modernization Act including the pros and cons of the legislation and its impact on seniors in Oregon.

Wednesday, May 26, 9:30–11:30 AM: An Overview of Benton County Parks and Natural Areas

Jerry Davis, Director, Benton County Natural Areas and Parks, describes the recreational opportunities in Benton County natural areas and parks with emphasis on Fitton Green Open Space, Fort Hoskins Historic Park, and Beazell Memorial Forest.

Wednesday, June 2, 9:30–11:30 AM: Illegal Drugs – Enforcement vs. Treatment

Jim Gouveia, Manager of the Benton County Alcohol and Drug Treatment Program, will explore the costs and effectiveness of the various approaches to solving the problem of illegal drugs.

4. Science

Thursday, April 1, 9:30–11:30 AM: Insect-borne Diseases

Dr. Phil Rossignol, formerly professor and researcher in the Department of Entomology, currently professor, author and researcher in the Department of Fisheries and Wildlife at OSU will discuss insects as vectors for disease.

Thursday, April 8, 9:30–11:30 AM: Herbs – Fact or Fraud?

George Constantine, OSU Professor Emeritus of Pharmacy, will give a brief discussion of the facts and fallacies regarding herbal supplements advertised as remedies for improving health, memory, the immune system, fighting cancer, etc.

Thursday, April 15, 9:30–11:30 AM: Cancer Chemoprevention by Dietary Phytochemicals

Dr. David Williams, OSU Professor of Environmental Molecular Toxicology, Linus Pauling Institute scientist, and Director of the Marine and Freshwater Biomedical Sciences Center, will cover the main contributors to cancer rates in different parts of the world. He will focus specifically on the role of diet in prevention of cancer and present information on what phytochemicals in certain plants provide the best protection.

Thursday, April 22, 9:30–11:30 AM: Identity Theft – Learn to Protect Yourself

Claudine Oriani, Director of Community Education, and Richard Lee, Assistant Vice President of Information Services, both of the OSU Federal Credit Union, pass on knowledge to help you protect yourself against identity theft and credit fraud. How does it happen? Steps to damage control if it happens to you.

Thursday, April 29, 9:30–11:30 AM: O H Hinsdale Wave Research Laboratory Tour

The Wave Research Laboratory was founded in 1973 to provide engineers with a facility to model wave interaction with natural and constructed ocean features. OSU is also the tsunami wave-testing center for the nation. Dr. Charles Sollitt, Director of the Wave Research Laboratory from 1981-2002, describes past and future research as well as a demonstration of the facilities.

Note: We will meet at the Church and car-pool to the Center, as parking there is limited.

Thursday, May 6, 9:30–11:30 AM: The Oceanography of Climate Change

The earth's climate is changing. Many aspects of these changes affect the oceans and marine life, but many of them are mediated by the oceans. Oceanographers have studied the ice age oscillations of climate, and Charles Miller, OSU Professor Emeritus of Oceanography, will review this story from several angles.

Thursday, May 13, 9:30–11:30 AM: Birds of Oregon

From the Audubon Society of Corvallis Kate Mathews, Education Chair, and Marcia Cutler, Secretary, will give us a chance to see local birds in taxidermy specimens, hear tape recordings of calls, learn about bird habitat, and what each bird might eat. Some birds seen in the area are year around residents, some just winter or summer here and others are passing through.

Thursday, May 20, 9:30–11:30 AM: A Wildflower Walk at Finley Wildlife Refuge

Richard Halse, OSU Senior Instructor in Botany and Plant Pathology, will lead a wildflower walk to look at spring wildflowers at the William Finley Wildlife Refuge south of Corvallis. While the walk will be on the paths, appropriate footwear and clothing are recommended.

Note: We will meet at the OSU Foundation Building and carpool. Please park nearest 35th Street.

This class is limited to 25 Participants.

Thursday, May 27, 9:30–11:30 AM: Lasers in Biology and Medicine

The name "laser" stands for Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation. Dr Don Rounds, retired Director of the Department of Laser Biology at the Pasadena Foundation, will help us to understand what that means. He will give us a little background information, along with a summary of how lasers affect living tissue. Learn how lasers are being used in ophthalmology, cardiology, surgery, and veterinary medicine.

Thursday, June 3, 8:00–5:00 PM, Part I: Fossils of the Oregon Coast – Rocks Telling Stories

Guy DeTorrice, member Geological Society of the Oregon Territory, gives a presentation of over 100 prepared beach fossils, featuring petrified wood, coastal corals, clams, snails, fishes, and marine mammals – all over 30 million years old. Beach fossil locations on the Oregon coast will be showcased, and there will be an optional short beach trip to find fossils. This class is offered in conjunction with the fine arts class "Galleries of Newport". Cost for transportation is $17. Lunch is on your own. The bus leaves the Church parking lot at 8:00 AM.

5. Fine Arts

Thursday, April 1, 1:30–3:30 PM: How to Direct and Stage a Scene from Fiddler on the Roof

Mary Jeanne Reynales, a nurse at Good Samaritan Regional Medical Center, is the Director of the 2004 Corvallis Community Theatre production of Fiddler on the Roof. Using cast members and an accompanist, she will stage the scene "Matchmaker" from the upcoming show. Mary Jeanne has been involved with theatre work and choral groups most of her life. She has directed many productions for CCT including Annie, Oliver, Magdalena and The Wizard of Oz.

Note: This class will take place at the Majestic Theatre, main stage, 115 SW Second Street, Corvallis.

Thursday, April 8 – May 6, 1:30–3:30 PM: Reading Shakespeare

Jane White, retired English and literature faculty member of Linn-Benton Community College, guides the class as you renew your relationship with Shakespeare. You will be reading aloud and discussing three plays scheduled at the Oregon Shakespeare Festival, resolve confusions in Comedy of Errors, explore misapprehensions in Much Ado about Nothing, and contemplate the costumes in King Lear.

Note: Please bring a copy of the play we are reading.

Classes are held at the First Congregational Church, on West Hills Road unless otherwise noted.

The schedule is as follows:

April 8 – Introduction and The Comedy of Errors

April 15 – Comedy of Errors and Much Ado about Nothing

April 22 – Much Ado about Nothing

April 29 and May 6 – King Lear

Thursday, May 13, 1:30–3:30 PM: Hard Time – 23 Years Teaching at the State Prison

John Van Dreische, BA, MA, English from University of Oregon, spent his career teaching at the Oregon State Penitentiary. He shares his experiences teaching in basic to College English, Shakespeare, and Sherlock Holmes.

Friday, May 14, 2:30–4:30 PM: The World of Dance

Carol Soleau, OSU Associate Professor of Dance and local choreographer, will have her dance students illustrate her presentation.

Note: This class takes place in Carol's dance studio in the OSU Women's Building, Rm 118. We will carpool from the church as parking is limited and requires a permit.

Sunday, May 16, 2:30 PM: ALL Group Viewing of Fiddler on the Roof

Join us for the finished performance of Corvallis Community Theatre's production of Fiddler on the Roof directed by Mary Jeanne Reynales. Fiddler is full of memorable show tunes such as "Tradition", "To Life!", "If I Were a Rich Man", "Matchmaker", and "Sunrise, Sunset".

Cost is $10.

Thursday, May 27, 1:30–3:30 PM: The Music of Charles Ives

David Eiseman, OSU Professor Emeritus of Musicology, will survey the unique and compelling music of Charles Ives (1874-1954), America's seminal maverick composer. The son of the Civil War's youngest bandmaster, his music, whether nostalgic or boisterous, embodies strands of Americana, including the parlor, the popular, the patriotic, the political, the religious and the philosophic, cast in an array of unprecedented startling innovations. (Previously offered last term but rescheduled due to conflicts.)

Thursday, June 3, 8:00–5:00 PM, Part II: The Visual Arts Center and Galleries in Newport

After lunch on your own, we will have a private tour of a special statewide biennial exhibition, judged by Henry Sayre and Sandy Brooke, called "Human Form 2004" at the Visual Arts Center at Nye Beach. This "Exhibit in Progress" opens to the public the next day. We will also tour two galleries on the waterfront.

Cost for transportation is $17. Lunch is on your own.

Note: The bus leaves the Church parking lot at 8:00 AM.
