

Class Times, Locations, & Days Vary: Please Plan Accordingly

24 June [1:30-3:30PM] Buried Child Discussion

First Congregational Church, 4515 SW West Hills Rd., Corvallis

This Pulitzer Prize winning play by Sam Shepard will be performed on June 28th by the Majestic Reader's Theatre Company. It is being directed by long-time, community-theatre director, Richard Wagner. Wagner will describe Shepard's story of a dysfunctional family, torn by a mysterious and horrific event committed years before. He'll describe how, as the director, he tells this story, how he interprets the play, and works with the actors. Cast members will perform key scenes. The Sunday afternoon performance of the Buried Child is also an ALL class. Host: Dick Weinman

28 June [3:00PM] Readers' Theater: Buried Child

Majestic Theater, 115 SW 2nd Street, Corvallis

Attend the 3:00PM show with other ALL members. Cost is $8 for students and seniors (over 60) and $10 for non-senior adults. It is advisable to buy tickets in advance, either on-line at www.majestic.org or by telephone by calling 541-758-7827. It will be held in the upstairs Theater Lab at the Majestic Theater located at 115 SW 2nd Street in Corvallis. There is parking across the street from the theater and the Theater Lab is wheelchair accessible.

15 July [1:30-3:30 PM] Student Experience in the 21st Century

OSU Memorial Union, OSU Campus, Corvallis

During Winter Term 2015, the OSU Memorial Union opened the Student Experience Center (SEC) at OSU. Michael Henthorne, Executive Director of the MU and Educational Activities, will present a deeper look at why this $42 M facility was built, what it hopes to produce and the role of the SEC in out-of-class learning. The class includes a behind-the-scenes tour of the SEC's incredible facility design features and how the values that drove the project were integrated into the structure of the building. Attendees should meet in the lobby of the SEC, located where the former bookstore parking lot was. Parking will be on the 3rd floor of the parking garage located across from Gill Coliseum [Parking is up to 4 hours, $1 per hour, credit card accepted]. Host: Dick Weinman

22 July [9:30-11:15AM] Gluten Intolerance: Fad or Fact?

1644 Main St., Philomath

We are seeing a lot more focus on gluten free nowadays. Wondering what this is all about? This class will tell you. Set in the fun surroundings of Eats & Treats Cafe in Philomath, this class will outline the basic ABC's of gluten intolerance. Meet Cafe owners, Sandy and Lynda McHenry, as they share a bit about their journey with gluten intolerance that started with a family member's illness and led to the establishment of Big River Grains and Eats & Treats Cafe. Get a great overview of gluten intolerance presented by Nadine Grzeskowiak, author and national expert on the recognition and treatment for gluten intolerance and celiac disease. Then follow up with Lois de Geus, product developer for Big River Grains, as she outlines the ten commandments of gluten free baking, explains how gluten free baking differs from traditional baking and demonstrates how to make Eats & Treats gluten free bread. The class will end at about 11:15AM. Participants are invited to enjoy lunch on their own after the class. Parking is behind the restaurant, off 17th & Applegate. Host: Fria Rogers

28 July [9:30-11:30PM] Churchill Was Right: We Shape Our Buildings; Thereafter, They Shape Us

OSU Campus, Corvallis

The new architecture of the OSU campus has created new buildings for new learning systems. See the new open meeting areas, handicap accessible, walking encouraged, energy efficient academic environments. Come with Court Smith, OSU Emeritus Professor, who has viewed campus change over 46 years of teaching and research. We will view some of the new and old learning spaces on the OSU campus to feel the new academic atmosphere. Sites include historic Waldo Hall, the Native American Longhouse, Austin Business School, and INTO, the residential/teaching facility for international students. This a handicapped accessible tour. We meet at elevator near the Beaver Store parking area on the 3rd floor of the Parking Garage to get free parking passes. Tour walking distance is under 1.5 miles. Host: Dick Weinman

13 Aug. [9:30-11:30 AM] Mary's Peak—the Largest Peak in the Oregon Coast Range

First Congregational Church, Corvallis

Attend a class presented by Tom Horning, consulting geologist, on Mary's Peak. Mary's Peak stands tall because of its erosional resistance, a characteristic of the rock that makes it up. The mountain has been lifted up along with the rest of the Eocene seafloor, now stripped down by erosion to leave the huge slab of rock high above the surrounding land. Mary's Peak is the magma chamber of an ancient submarine seafloor volcano, clipped off by subduction processes and accreted to the west side of Oregon, added to North America about 35 million years ago. Similar volcanoes are erupting off of Oregon right now, most notably the Axial Seamount Volcano, about 300 miles west of the modern shore. Lifted up above 3,000 feet, the peak is exposed to extremes of weather and is host to rare isolated habitat with unusual plants and wildlife, trapped there since the end of the last Ice Age, which ended 12,000 years ago.
